This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

AN ACT

To provide for preparing a Catalogue of the State Library.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the State Librarian be, and he is hereby authorized to make, under the supervision of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, a descriptive and classified Catalogue of all the Books, Maps and Plates in the State Library, and superintend the printing of the same by the Public Printer.

G. NELSON SMITH,
Speaker pro tem. of the House of Representatives.

WILLIAM H. WELSH,
Speaker of the Senate.

APPROVED—The sixteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight.

WM. F. PACKER.

PREFACE.

UNDER the authority given by the foregoing act of the Legislature, this Catalogue has been prepared on the following plan.

No Book or Pamphlet known to belong to the Library, however unimportant it may have been deemed, has been excluded. Each one will be found in its proper place, as carefully described, and as accurately classified as though it had been regarded of the greatest importance. No discretion was given, and none exercised upon this subject. Indeed, any attempt at discrimination would have been unwise; for that, which might be regarded of trifling value now, may become of the greatest importance in the lapse of time.

In the construction of the Catalogue, the design has been so to arrange, describe and classify the Books, as to afford the greatest facility in ascertaining if any desired book belonged to the Library, and what works on any particular subject might be found on its shelves.

In the prosecution of this design, the Catalogue has been divided into TWO parts: the first, including the Law Books, Statute Laws and State Papers; the second, the Miscellaneous Books.—Under each of these heads the works are arranged, and described alphabetically under the name of their authors when known; when unknown, under the word that best indicates the nature and design of the work. In the description of the works, the title pages are copied, except in a few cases, in which owing to their extreme length, an abbreviation seemed desirable; but in such abbreviations the subject matter of the title page has been retained. In most of the polygraphs, when the title page is simply "The Works of," &c., the contents of the volumes have been added in an abbreviated form. Some works are so arranged as to render such an exhibition of their contents impossible, without swelling the Catalogue to undue dimensions. Wherever it was believed a cross-reference would facilitate the finding of a book, such a reference has been made.

In the classification of the works according to their subjects, the aim has been to avoid the perplexity growing out of a large number of sub-divisions, by making the classification as general as would comport with its usefulness. The Library is not so large as to render a more minute classification necessary. A brief examination will enable any one to ascertain what books it contains on any particular subject.

The Maps, Charts and Prints belonging to the Library will be found at the end of the Catalogue of Miscellaneous books. The Maps belonging to the Surveyor General's Department have been added for the information of the public.

At the close of the Catalogue will be found an ADDENDA, principally of English and Irish law reports, that came too late to be included in the body of the Catalogue.

The preparing of the Catalogue, and the examination and correction of the proof sheets has been a task of no ordinary labor. Errors doubtless will be found, but as few, we think, as in most Catalogues of its size. At any rate we have done our best, and such is our conviction of its comparative accuracy, that we confidently submit it for the approbation of the Legislature.

LAWS AND RESOLUTIONS

RELATIVE TO THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE LIBRARY.

Laws and Resolutions relating to a State Library can be traced back as far as 1780. It probably had its origin during the Proprietary government. After the adoption of the Constitution, the Senate and House ordered books to be purchased, each for their own use. Thus three libraries were formed, which were kept separate until 1816.

By an act approved February 28, 1816, these three libraries were consolidated into one; the annual appointment of a joint committee of the Senate and House provided for, who should have charge of the Library, and annually appoint a Librarian.—See Laws of 1816, pp. 88.

The Librarian is hereby prohibited from permitting any person except the Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Canal Commissioners, the Head of a Department, or member or officer of the Legislature to take from the library rooms, any book, map, chart, print or other property belonging thereto. Act No. 350, Section 9, approved March 16, 1847.—See Laws of 1847, pp. 432.

The act of the Legislature approved the twenty-fifth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, provides for the appointment of a Librarian every three years by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, and prescribes the duties of the Librarian thus appointed.—See Laws of 1854, pp. 7.

By a Resolution approved the nineteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty six, the Librarian is authorized to make Foreign exchanges. —See Laws of 1856, pp. 587.

By an act approved the seventh day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, the Librarian is authorized to exchange for new books, the surplus copies of such works in the State Library, of which there are in his opinion more copies than are required; also to make sale of all old editions of books or exchange the same for new editions of the books, where it can be done to advantage; and to sell odd volumes or broken sets of such works, the places of which are, or can be supplied by new and more perfect copies.—See Laws of 1858, pp. 211.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE LIBRARY,

ADOPTED BY THE JOINT LIBRARY COMMITTEE, APRIL 4, 1859.

1. It shall be the duty of the Librarian to keep open, for the use of the members of the Legislature, visitors, citizens and strangers, the Library rooms every secular day between the hours of nine, A. M., and two, P. M., and during the session of the Legislature from nine, A. M., to one, P. M., and from two, P. M., to five, P. M., and from seven to nine in the evening.—Act Jan. 25, 1854.

2. During the time the Library is open, the Librarian, or his assistant, shall be in attendance. They shall preserve order, and exclude, if necessary, any disorderly person. They shall prevent smoking, loud talking and all noise inappropriate to the quietness of a place of study.

3. A member of the Legislature, or officer of the government, may have the use of a single duodecimo one week, two duodecimos two weeks, an octavo two weeks, a quarto three weeks, and a folio four weeks, which shall be returned to the Librarian, at the expiration of the time allowed, and no member shall receive more than one folio, one quarto, two octavos or two duodecimos, within the time aforesaid, unless when so connected as to be otherwise useless.

4. It shall be the duty of the Librarian to register, in a book provided for that purpose, the name of the member, or officer of government, who shall take a book from the Library, together with the title of the book, and the time at which it was taken out, and in case any member or officer aforesaid shall keep the book so registered in his name for a longer period than is provided in the third rule, the Librarian shall give notice to the said member or officer to return the same; and any member, or officer, who shall neglect to return the said book to the Librarian two days after such notice being given, shall be fined twelve and a half cents for every day he shall retain the same, and if he lose a book belonging to a set, or so injure it as to render it worthless, he shall pay the cost of the whole set, and if it be a single volume he shall pay the price of it. For any injury not amounting to destruction to any book, the person causing the same shall pay a sum sufficient to compensate for the said injury.

5. Whenever any member shall obtain leave of absence for the remainder of the session, the Library Committee shall ascertain of the Librarian whether any such member shall have returned the books which he may have received from the Library, and have paid the fines which may have been incurred by him, and in case of failure, the same deduction shall be made in the settlement of the accounts of such members as is directed in a subsequent rule.

6. No book shall be issued by the Librarian within five days of the close of the session, and all books taken out by the members shall be returned to the Librarian five days previous to the adjournment of the Legislature.

7. The Library Committee shall deliver to the Committee of accounts of each House, before the close of the session, a list of all delinquent members, with the amount of fines due by them, which shall be deducted from their pay by the Committee of Accounts, unless remitted on sufficient cause shown to the Library Committee.

8. Any person who wishes to obtain a book for perusal in the Library, will be furnished by the Librarian, or Assistant Librarian, with a card on which he will inscribe, from the Catalogue, the title of the book and his own name. The book thus received must not be taken from the Library rooms. On returning it to the Librarian's desk, the card will be given up, otherwise the party will remain responsible for the book. Lawyers in attendance on the Supreme Court in the Capitol at Harrisburg, shall be subject to this rule, only they will be permitted to take such law books as they may wish into the Supreme Court room, but they must be returned on the day they are taken out.

9. "The Librarian is hereby prohibited from permitting any person except the Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Canal Commissioners, the Head of a Department, or member or officer of the Legislature, to take from the Library rooms any book, map, chart, print, or other property belonging thereto."—Act of the 16th March, 1847. The Judges of the Supreme Court, during the sittings of the Court in the Capitol at Harrisburg, shall be included in this exception.

10. Those persons entitled to take out books from the Library for themselves, shall, in giving an order for a book, give its title, with the name of the individuals to whom the order is given. The Librarian shall charge the book to the individual by whom the order has been given, who shall be held responsible for the return of the book; and if the book be lost or injured, he shall be responsible for its loss or injury, as provided in the foregoing rules. And the Librarian is hereby strictly prohibited from giving out books on orders, unless this rule is fully complied with.

11. No atlas, map, chart, drawings, or books with colored plates, shall be taken from the Library room; nor shall any dictionary, encyclopædia, file of newspapers, law reports, laws and journals of this or other States, journals of Congress, State papers or official documents, be taken out of the State House, on any terms whatever.

GEO. W. BREWER,
Chairman of the Library Committee.
E. H IRISH,
Secretary.

*It will be seen that the Library is deficient in the early congressional documents. They have become very scarce and difficult to be obtained; and when obtained, the books are usually in such a state, that no idea can be formed of their contents, without an examination of the books themselves. The principal contents of the books embracing the documents of the first thirteen congresses in the Library have, therefore, been written out.

CLASSIFICATION OF STATUTE LAWS AND STATE PAPERS.

At the commencement of the Catalogue of Statute Laws and State Papers are placed the names of the Countries and States, the Statute Laws and State Papers of which are in the Library. In the Catalogue they are arranged in the order in which they stand at the commencement, and it can be seen more readily what there is under each division than by any other classification that could be made.
